

On-line Handwriting Database
(TUAT Nakagawa Lab. Kasane-17-01-01)
Application Form and Conditions of Use

[About the Database]

The on-line handwriting database TUAT Nakagawa Lab. Kasane-17-01-01 (hereafter, this database) stores on-line overlaid handwritten text patterns. This database has been collected by Nakagawa Lab., Tokyo University of Agri. & Tech. (TUAT). Nakagawa Lab. is in charge of maintaining and distributing it.

This database consists of on-line handwritten overlaid Japanese text patterns from 10 writers: 5 Japanese native speakers, 3 Vietnamese speakers and 2 Chinese speakers. Each writer wrote 15 phrases composed of 167 characters.

The database is available according to the conditions of use as specified below:

[Application Form]

(Given)

(Middle)

(Family)

Name: _____

Organization: _____

Address: _____

Tel: _____ Fax: _____

E-mail: _____

[Conditions of Use]

1. When the package of the database is opened, it is assumed that the following conditions of use are accepted.
2. The database can be used for education or research purpose only. The commercial purpose use is prohibiting in any terms and conditions.
3. The user can make copies of this database, but the user must keep all the copies within the user's administrative organization. The user is neither allowed to distribute the database or a copy of it to third parties nor to use it outside the user's administrative organization.

4. When the user uses this database for education or research purpose and presents results derived directly or indirectly by utilizing the database, the user should appropriately acknowledge the usage of the database. The user should clarify how the database is used for learning, evaluation, or whatsoever, in a form that third parties can reproduce or verify; in particular, the user should indicate the sets used for learning and evaluation.
5. When this database is mentioned, it should be referred to as "TUAT Nakagawa Lab. Kasane-17-01-01", or "Kasane-17-01-01" in short form.
6. The sample text according to which handwritten patterns were collected can only be used for the purpose of utilizing the handwritten patterns collected in this database.
7. Nakagawa lab., TUAT, declines the responsibility for any direct, indirect, incidental and/or accidental damages caused by the use of this database and accompanying software.
8. The user must destroy the database and all the copies if the user violates the conditions of use.
9. In any other case not specified in the present conditions of use, the user must follow the copyright rule under the knowledge propriety right to use this database.

* This database is presented by the licenser Masaki Nakagawa at Nakagawa Lab., TUAT.

【License fee for using the database】

Academic price: free

I have read and agreed to the terms and conditions of use as specified above.

Signature: _____

Date: _____