

Go Global TUAT

The Joy of Learning Languages -The Way to Learn English for Science Students-

Go Global TUAT is the initiative to help improve the English language skills of TUAT students who aim to use their professional skills to contribute to the global community..

Through this lecture, you will come to know

- That learning a language is an opportunity to know a more diversified common sense and value system. The lecture will introduce you to the world of "cross-cultural communication" that will change people who think language learning is a "painful" task
- The characteristics of science students, what content they prefer, and other tips for learning English, and figure out the best way to fit your needs!

Dr. Robin Sakamoto

In 1985, Dr. Sakamoto was assigned to Iwate Prefecture as an ALT and has been living in Japan ever since. In 2010 she became a professor at Kyorin University, and in 2014 she became the Dean of the Faculty of Foreign Languages at Kyorin University. She teaches courses such as Intercultural Communication and Global Communication.

Date & Time: Friday, March 4, 2022, 15:00-16:30

Venue: Held online via zoom

Speaker: Dr. Robin Sakamoto (Dean, Faculty of Foreign Languages, Kyorin University)

Open to: Students, faculty and staff members of TUAT, general public

Registration: Please submit the form by noon on Wednesday, March 2nd.

<https://forms.gle/bYzXtaceatwwpmqL8>

Organized by: Tokyo University of Agriculture and Technology,

Organization for the Advancement of Education and Global Learning

Inquiries: goglobal@m2.tuat.ac.jp (Contact: Murayama)