

Sharpen your Communication and Presentation Skills!

English Presentation for Scientists

ONLINE Lecture 12:05-12:55 Fri, May 9, 16, 23, 30, 2025

*Feel free to participate in any or all of the four lectures.

For: All students (undergrad, grad, research students) and researchers

Admission: Free of charge

Application deadline: 17:00, Wednesday, May 7, 2025

- #1 May 9 Preparation 1 Essential for Presentation, Effective Use of Slides
- #2 May 16 Preparation 2 Structure, Speaking Style, Rehearsing
- #3 May 23 Actual Presentation 1 Manners, Technique, Set Phrases, Q&A
- #4 May 30 Actual Presentation 2 Poster, Evaluation Points, Checklists

Yoshimasa A. Ono, PhD is a part-time lecturer at the University of Tokyo and a former senior visiting scientist at RIKEN, where he supervised electron microscopy research and taught technical writing in English. He also served as a professor at the University of Tokyo's School of Engineering and taught technical writing and presentation in English. He spent over two decades at Hitachi's research laboratories. He earned a Ph.D. in physics from the University of Tokyo and held post-doctoral positions in the USA.

Contact: Prof. Natsumi Ito goglobal@m2.tuat.ac.jp

Go Global TUAT
Lecture Series

Application ↓

